FRIENDS of the Playhouse

Supporting Stroud's
Own Theatre

FRIENDS OF THE COTSWOLD PLAYHOUSE

Friends are supporters of the Playhouse who provide practical and financial help, ensuring the future of this unique Stroud venue for amateur and professional theatre. Membership is open to all.

In return, they receive advance notice of programmes, concessionary booking for most productions and access to special events - together with the knowledge that they are actively supporting a unique venture in the town.

The Playhouse is maintained and staffed entirely by volunteers and receives no direct grant or subsidy income. It was significantly modernised in 2002 and 2007/8 and presents a varied programme throughout the year.

If they wish, Friends have an opportunity to offer their expertise and enthusiasm by becoming more directly involved in other theatre activities.

Income is generated from ticket sales, hire charges, the sale of refreshments, fund-raising activities and the generosity of our supporters.

The Playhouse is owned by the Cotswold Players, our resident Company, and is run by a management committee.
